

“I don’t want my firefighter to be a campaigner and a politician...
be a full-time firefighter.”

— Former Secretary of State Ralph Munro,
Republican, who opposes Initiative 747.

Initiative 747 is a property tax measure that would prevent local government services from keeping pace with inflation. Supporters say special elections could still be held to fully fund firefighters, police and other public safety services affected. But elections are expensive and time-consuming.

Public safety is the wrong place to cut.
